【范文】 The Importance of Lifelong Learning

The saying , which goes "Learning is a daily experience and a lifetime mission" , is a proverb full of logic. Learning exerts a significant role in our life, which facilitates us to learn deeply. Those wise people who apply it to their life are more likely to benefit a great deal from.

There are numerous reasons which can explain this phenomenon. After graduation from university, graduates' life has been full of working pressure, which contributes to their decision of pursuing further education. More importantly, we can enrich our spare time life by learning.

There exist a number of examples which we can notice . Those college students who only usually spend two weeks learning the subjects smoothly pass the final exams. They tend to learn knowledge in a short time for a practical purpose, which ignores the essence of learning. However, it is lifelong learning that enables people to accumulate adequate knowledge, skills and experience for their future life. Apparently, more and more wise people have come to realize the significance and benefits of lifelong learning.

【范文】 Stated-owned business or Joint venture

University students confront the problem of the career choice upon graduation. What a tough choice it is! Many a student is in favor of this proposal that a graduate (should) work in SOE which guarantee his life after retirement. Nevertheless, some others are in favor of this proposal that a graduate (should) work in J.V. which provide higher income for employees.

From my humble perspective, I prefer the latter view. A J.V, especially a high-salary joint venture, casts a tremendous fascination on numerous individuals, with no exception to me. It is high-salary that is exactly what I need. As for me, our career choices largely depend on where we intend to stay for the rest of our life. As I hold the view that live in the moment, rather than the future, and also with an aim to financing myself in some aspects such as the transportation, the house-renting, or other social activities.

Only by working in a J.V. can my needs for the consumption that I mention above be satisfied efficiently.

In short, it is working in a J.V that is my preferable alternative.
