The first year of school in America, known as kindergarten (幼儿园), usually begins between the ages of five and six. Among other countries such a late start is very strange. President Obama believes it is an economic and social problem; his view has some support, as it is clear from research into vocabulary that youngsters from poor families enter kindergarten well behind those from other families—a disadvantage that usually lasts a lifetime. Children from households on welfare knew 525 words by the age of three, while the children of professionals had mastered 1,116. Pre-school can help close this gap. So in a speech last month, Mr. Obama called for a partnership between the federal government and the those who e from families with ines of up to 20 above the poverty line-equal to an ine of $ 47 , 000 for a family of four. Some crits (评论家) say that sending children to school at the age of four does not work. The evidence suggests otherwise. For ele, on March 20th new results were announced from a study otherwise. For ele, on March of 9 to 11 year olds in New Jersey. This report found that disadvantaged pre-school had better literacy (读写能力) , children who had attended skills. And two years of pre-kindergarten were language, math and science better than one. Some studies also follow the effects of early learning over lifetimes, such as its effect on crime rates and other factors that may eventually burden society. Crits have singled out a government scheme called Head Start, created in 1965, whh provides poor households with a range of serves including school-based early education. 21. The kindergarten in other rh countries usually bens than in Amera. A. earlier B. later

C. slower [答案] A 22. Whh is TRUE about the vocabulary size of the two groups of 30 题: 阅读下面的句子, 根据文章内容进行判断, 正确写“T” “错误写“F” 。

Juvenile delinquency refers to criminal acts mitted by children or teenagers, specifically anyone below the age of eighteen. These crimes hurt society and the children themselves. There are many factors that cause juvenile delinquency. Some children want to test their parents' or society's limits. Sometimes juvenile crimes happen because of a lack of rules and supervision. For example, many times children commit crimes after school and while their parents are at work. Additionally, mental illness and substance abuse are main factors. 15-20% of juveniles convicted of crimes have serious mental illnesses, when the range of mental illnesses widens, the percentages increase to 30-90. Also, many people believe, a child's environment and family are greatly related to their juvenile delinquency record. For example, the dynamics of a family can affect a child's delinquency rate. Poverty level is another factor. Finally, another cause could be the relationships a child has in school or outside of school. A positive or negative friendship can influence the chances of children being delinquents. Peer pressure is also at play. Relationships and friendships can lead to gangs, which are major factors in violent crimes among teens. These are just some of the causes of juvenile delinquency.

26. Juvenile delinquency hurts the children themselves only. [答案] F

My lovely hometown is located on the south shore of an island. It* a small town with only about 9,000 people and an area of about 3.8 square miles. First, I want to talk about the people in the neighborhood. Generally speaking, people are very nice here, in the especially summer. I feel that in the summer everyone is in a great mood, and very generous. For example, one summer afternoon, I was at the gas station filling up my car and was short of money. Generously an old gentleman gave me the money to pay the gas attendant. That is the type of people you can expect from my hometown. The greatest part about the town, in my opinion, is the location. The Great Bay is five minutes away from my house and it's fantastic. Another great thing is how close everybody lives to each other. With it being such a small town, all my friends live five minutes away, which is a great advantage to me and everyone else. Lastly, the nightlife is great. On any Saturday night every bar is packed with people, so there's always something going on. So far I've explained the good side of my hometown, but there are also some boring things about it. It is great in the summer, but it is a different story in the winter. When temperatures drop. This is because there is nowhere to go. The only thing we have is a shopping
