Whereas, this wasn't where my ambition lay. My desire was to show off my beautiful voice on stage. I often whistled a cheerful tune. Did you have any childhood dreams?

M: I was curious about outer space and wanted to fly to the moon.

W: A big dream. When people are in their childhood, their dreams are likely to be based on pure passion and imagination. However, before entering the workforce, these youthful perspectives begin to shift.

M: Yeah. Children rarely consider financial limitations and educational requirements when deciding on their future.

W: Your dream has come true. For me, I will put more effort into my present dream — creating more musical pieces.

M: Agreed. We might not be able to change our past, but we can create our future.
