A Youth Volunteer Activity Celebrating World Water Day

World Water Day falls on March 22 every year. Last Sunday, some young student volunteers, organized by the Student Union, took to the streets to celebrate and advertise World Water Day.

Firstly, they handed out leaflets to the citizens to lecture about World Water Day. Later, public speeches about the importance of protecting water resources were given by some volunteers.

This activity turned out to be a huge success. Not only did these activities arouse people's great interest in World Water Day, but also they raised their awareness of water resources protection.
