

模考：2023 同等学力申硕英语模拟附答案(二)

试卷一 Paper One (90 minutes)

Part I Dialogue Communication (10 minutes, 10 points, 1 for each)

Section A

Dialogue Completion

Directions: In this section, you will read 5 short incomplete dialogues between two speakers each followed by 4 choices, A, B, C and D. Choose the best answer that best suits the situation to complete the dialogue by marking the corresponding letter with a single bar across the square brackets on your machine-scoring ANSWER SHEET.

1. A: Could you install this equipment for me?

B:

A. Come on. don't you see I'm busy now?

B. Unless you can help me with my computer

C. It's very heavy. It'll be ok if you can find another hand

D. If I were you, I would do it myself

2. A: Martin congratulations on your winning such a great award

B:

A. Oh, do you really think so?

B. All the honor should go to my colleagues

C. You know, I have stayed up very late recently

D. I have great confidence to win this time

3. A. Do you know what happen to Jack?

B: I don't care what happen to him

B:

A. I know you feel ill ~~of him~~ he failed in the driving test again

B. I know you are fed up with ~~him~~ he is still fine

C. Oh, you shouldn't look up to him

D. I know you feel sick of hearing his ~~story~~ he was seriously injured in the car accident

4. A. The phone bill was $160 this month. ~~Someone~~ someone must have made several international calls without keeping me informed

B:

A. Wow . I don't know you are such a stingy person

B. You mean I did it when you were absent?

C. I'm sorry Mrs. Jones I forgot to tell you that I called my girlfriend in Italy a couple of times

D. It's none of my business but I guess it's Ted who did, because he has a girlfriend in

France

5. A: What do you think I should dress for the reception?

B:

A. Oh, just come as you are

B. Do you really need to dress up yourself

C. Really? You will join the reception?

D. Coat and tie I'm sure

Section B

Dialogue Comprehension

Directions In this section you will read 5 short conversations between a man and a woman. At the end of conversation there is a question followed by 4 choices marked A, B, C, and D. Choose the best answer to the question by marking the corresponding letter with a single box across the square brackets on your machine-scoring ANSWER SHEET.

6. M: Mary, I bought an old vase for $10. It turned out to be 500 years old.

W: You've gotta be kidding. It must be imitation.

Q: What does the woman mean?

A. The man is cracking a joke on her.

B. It is impossible to buy a genuine antique for so little money.

C. The man is out of his mind about the old vase.

D. The man is run into a great fortune.

7. W: Hey, Frank, you look upset. Is it the problem with the project?

M : Yeah. I can't come up with the solution

Q : What's wrong with the man?

A . He can't find a good idea about the problem

B . He feels hopeless about the project

C . He has encountered another problem

D . He is going to give up the project

8. M : Call you come over for dinner tonight?

W : I'm up to my ears in work ~~so~~ I'll have to take a rain check

Q : What does the woman mean?

A . She wants to check the weather before deciding

B . She has a problem with her hearing

C . She'd enjoy coming to dinner another time

D . She want the man to help her with some work

9. M : I've got a C on the biology ~~So~~ I have to talk to the Professor to change it

W : That will give you nowhefhe only thing you con do is to do it better next time

Q : What does the woman mean?

A . It S useless to talk to the professor

B . The professor is often unfair

C . The man has done well enough

D . Theman call t bebetter next time

10. M : I Cal tputup with Josef atthe meeting as an insultto me

W : But you should be outspoken about this

Q : What is the woma n S suggestion?

A . The man should not say things like that

B . The man should fight back

C . The moll should show his anger openly

D . The man should not complain openly

Part II Vocabulary(10 minutes points 0. 5 for each)

Section A

Directions: In this section there are ten sentences. Choose the one from the meaning of the sentence SHEET with a single line are ten sentences. Each sentence has one word or phrase underlined. Four choices marked A, B, C and D that best keeps the same meaning as the underlined word or phrase. Then mark the corresponding letter on the ANSWER through the center.

1. Consumer groups protesting against prices in this city now

A. clothing B. clinging to C. complaining about D. clutching with

12. They have announced that two failing firms have eventually emerged?

A. Governed B. greeted C. committed D. combined

13. Two substitutes were used during the basketball games

A. players B. centers C. referees D. replacements

14. His plans should succeed without too much trouble, if possible seems feasible

A. complete B. decisive C. daring D. possible

15. Judgment was suspended till the following Monday because of the lack of the evidence

A. changed B. discussed C. postpone D. informed

16. The object for each other in the game of chess is to trap the king in a position from which escape is impossible

A. skill. B. aim C. interest. D. difficulty

17. The colors red and yellow cannot be distinguished by the human eye

A. soaked B. ranked C. blended D. purchased

18. Annie's job as an assistant at the university observatory was to classify stars according to their spectra

A. locate B. photograph C. draw D. categorize

19. During the United States civil war, many people in the south were forced to flee their homes.

A. return to B. pay taxes on C. run away from D. rebuild

20. It is reported that the policemen are pursuing the bank robbers in the country.

A. appealing to B. chasing C. applying to D. claiming for

Section B

Directions: In this section, there are 10 incomplete sentences. For each sentence, there are 4 choices marked A, B, C and D. Choose the one that best completes the sentence. Then mark the corresponding letter on the ANSWER SHEET with a single line through the center.

21. Oil is an important material which can be processed into many different products including plastics

A. raw B. bleak C. flexible D. fertile

22. The high living standards of the US cause its present population to be 25 percent of the world's oil

A. assume B. consume C. resume D. presume

23. You shouldn't be so I didn't mean anything bad in what I said

A. sentimental B. sensible C. sensitive D. sophisticated

24. Picasso was an artist who fundamentally changed the of art for later generations.

A. philosophy B. concept C. viewpoint D. theme

25. Member states had the option to withdraw from this agreement with one year's notice.

A. deny B. object C. suspect D. withdraw

26. The two countries achieved some progress in the sphere of trade, but it had traditionally a source of irritation.

A . mutual B. optional .C neutral D parallel

27. Williams had not been there during the moments when the kidnapping had taken place.

A . superior .B rigorous .C vital D unique

28. Travel around Japan today and one sees foreign residents a wide Of jobs .

A . range B. field .C scale D area

29. Modern manufacturing has a global river of materials into a stunning array of new products

A . translated B transformed .C transferred D transported

30. Lightning has been the second largest storm killer in the US over the past 40 years and only by flood

A . Exceeded B . excelled C excluded D extended

Part III Reading Comprehension (55 minutes, 30 points, 1 for each)

Directions: There are five passages in this part. Each passage is followed by five questions or on unfinished statements. For each of them there are four choices, marked A, B, C, and D. Choose the best answer and mark the corresponding letter on the ANSWER SHEET with a single line through the center

Passage One

The lives of very few Newark residents are untouched by New Jersey's biggest city has seen it. Yet the murder of three young people were forced to kneel before being shot in the back of the head in a school playground on August 14, 2014, when the city's fourth who survived was stabbed and shot in the back. The four victims were by all accounts good kids enrolled in college with a future. But the cruel murder has at last forced Newarkers to say they have had enough.

Grassroots organizations like Stop Shooting have been flooded with offers of help and support since the killing of Ismail. Its co-founder says the group has been going door-to-door asking people to sign a pledge of non-violence. They hope to get 5,000 to promise "stop shooting start thinking and keep living."

The Newark Community Foundation, which was launched last month, announced on August 14 that it will help pay for Community Eye Surveillance (社区监视) system tailored towards gun crime.

Cory Booker who became mayor 13 months ago with a mission to revitalize the city believes the surveillance program will be the largest camera and audio network in any American city. More than 30 cameras were installed earlier this summer and a further 50 will be installed soon in a seven-square mile area where 80% of the city's recent shootings have occurred. And more cameras are planned.

When a gunshot is detected, the surveillance camera zooms in on that spot. Similar technology in Chicago has increased arrests and decreased shootings. Mr. Booker plans to announce a comprehensive gun strategy later this week.

Mr. Booker, as well as church leaders and others, believes (or hopes) that after the murder the city will no longer stand by in coldness. For generations Newark has been paralyzed by poverty—almost one in three people lives below the poverty line—and growing indifference to crime.

Some are skeptical. Steve Malanga of the conservative Manhattan Institute notes that Newark has deep social problems: over 60% of children are in homes without fathers. The school system, taken over by the state in 1995, is a mess. But there is also some cause for hope. Mr. Booker was elected there has been a rise in investment and re-zoning for development around 7% of nearby Newark airport workers used to come from Newark; last year the figure is 30%. Mr. Booker has launched a New York-style war on crime: this year crime has fallen 11% and shootings are down 30% (though the murder rate looks likely to match last year's high).

31. What happened in Newark, New Jersey on August 4th?

A . The Newark residents witnessed a murder

B . Four young people were killed in a school playground

C . The new mayor of Newark took office

D . Four college students fell victim to violence

32. Judging from the context, the “Community Eye” (Line 5 Para 2) is

A . a watching system for gun crime

B . a neighborhood protection organization

C . an unprofitable community business

D . a grassroots organization

33. We learn from the passage that Newark has all the following problems EXCEPT

A . violence

C . poverty

B . flood

D. indifference

34. It can be inferred from the passage that the church leaders

A. detect a gunshot

B. believe the city will deal with the crime

C. grow indifference to crime

D. are skeptical

35. Mayor Booker' S effort against crime seem to be

A. idealistic

C. effective

B. impractical

D. fruitless

36. The best title forthe passage may be

A. Stop ShootingStart Thinkingand Keep

B. Efforts to Fight against Gun Crimes

C. A Mission to Revitalize the City

D. Violent Murders in Newark

Passage Two

According to a recent survey on money and relationships, 36 percent of people are keeping bank accounts from their partners. While this financial unfaithfulness may appear as distrust in a relationship, in truth it may just be a form of financial protection.

With almost half of all marriages ending in divorce, women are realizing they need to be financially savvy regardless of whether they are in a relationship.

The financial hardship on individuals after a divorce can be extremely difficult, so when children are involved, the lack of permanency in relationships and family life may be the cause of a growing trend to keep a secret bank account hidden from their partners. In other words, an "escape fund."

Margaret's story is far from unique. She is a representative of a growing number of women in long-term relationships who are becoming protective of their own earnings.

Every month on pay day she banks hundreds of dollars into a savings account she keeps from her husband. She has been doing this throughout their six-year marriage and has built a nest egg worth an incredible $1000 on top of her pension .

Margaret says if her husband found out about her secret savings she'd hurt and would interpret this as a sign she was of the marriage. He'd think it was my escape fun so that financially could afford to get out of the relationship if it went wrong. I know you should approach marriage as being forever and I hope but you can never be sure.

Like many of her fellow secret savers, Margaret was stung in a former relationship and has since been very guarded about her own money .

Coming clean to your partner about being a secret saver may not be all that bad. Take example, who had been saving secretly for a few years before she confessed. To her partner decided to open a savings account and start building a nest egg. I wanted to prove to myself that I could put money in the bank and leave it there. For a rainy day.

“When John found out about my secret savings as a little suspicious of my motives reassured him that this was certainly not an escape fund that I feel very secure in our relationship. I have to admit that it does feel good to have my own money on reserve if ever there are rainy days in the future. It is sensible to build and protect your personal financial security.

37. The trend to keep a secret bank account is growing because .

A. escape fund helps one through rainy days

B. days are getting harder and harder

C. women are money sensitive

D. financial conflicts often occur

38 The word "saliw" (Line 2 Para 2) probably means .

A. suspicious

C. shrewd

B. secure

D. simple

39. What would Margaret's husband probably do if he found out about her secret savings?

A. breaks up with her

B. builds a nest egg for her

C. interprets this as a divorcing signal

D. escapes the wrong place

40. Which inference can we make about Margaret?

A. She is a unique woman

C. She is going to retire

B. She was once divorced

D. She has many children

41. The author mentions Coleman's example to show

A. any couple can avoid marriage conflicts

B. privacy within marriage should be respected

C. everyone can save a fortune with a happy marriage

D. financial disclosure is not necessarily bad

42. Which of the following best summarizes this passage?

A. Secret Savers

C. Banking Honesty

B. Love Is What's Worth

D. Once Bitten Twice Shy

以上内容仅为本文档的试下载部分，为可阅读页数的一半内容。如要下载或阅读全文，请访问：<https://d.book118.com/828112055056007005>