Would you be able to sleep with one eye open? Bottlenose dolphins (宽吻海豚) can. When they sleep, only half of their brain goes to sleep. They sleep with one eye open to stay safe. Half of their brain sleeps for about two hours before the other half of their brain gets a chance to sleep. Sometimes, the dolphins will keep swimming while they are sleeping.

Dolphins are not fish — they are mammals (哺乳动物). These mammals have lungs (肺). And they don't have gills (腮) like fish. They are also warm-blooded and have to go to the surface of the water to get air into their lungs. Dolphins don't lay eggs. Their young are born alive, and they drink milk from their mothers,

Dolphins are one of the smartest animals in the world. There are many stories about how they save people out of water. They are able to solve many problems like humans. They can even use tools to catch fish. But their cleverness doesn't end there. Dolphins can also pass on anything they learn to other dolphins, like interesting fishing skills. They communicate with each other in many ways. They use different sounds to talk to each other. Dolphins know the "voices" of other dolphins and even know exactly who is making which sound. Another thing that shows their cleverness is that they can also know themselves in a mirror (镜子) and check different parts of their body in it.

24. Why do bottlenose dolphins sleep with one eye open?

- A. To stay safe.
- B. To sleep for two hours.
- C. To swim faster.

25. What can we learn about dolphins from paragraph 2?

- A. They use gills to get air.
- B. They are warm-blooded.
- C. They lay eggs like fish.

26. How do dolphins talk to each other?

- A. By learning fishing skills.
- B. By using different sounds.
- C. By checking their bodies.

27. Which part of a magazine will the passage be taken from?

- A. Art.
- B. Health
- C. Nature.

c

Headphones are helpful. Many kids use them. But headphones can be harmful, too. They can cause hearing loss if the volume (音量) is too loud. Studies show that one out of every ten kids in the United States has some hearing loss. The cause is loud noise.

Do you know how we hear? There are cells (细胞) inside the ears that help us hear. We can't see them with our eyes. "We call them hair cells," Jackie Clark said. "They look like hairs standing up." Clark is a scientist at the University of Texas. She studies noises and ears. Sound cannot be seen, but it can make the hair cells move back and forward. Think of the wind in the leaves.

Loud noises can damage (损伤) these cells. And once the cells are damaged, they don't grow back. Sometimes, there's tinnitus. "It's like someone is playing a note on the flute (长笛) for a long time," Clark says. It shows we're losing hearing. Tinnitus is not only harmful to our ears; also it can make us feel uneasy. That's why it's necessary to protect our ears.

How can we protect our ears? We'd better keep the volume low when we use our headphones. We should be able to hear sounds around us. And other people shouldn't hear noise from our headphones. "If I can hear what you're listening to when you're wearing your headphones," Clark says, "it's too loud." To protect our ears, keep our headphones at about half volume.

28. What can we know about hair cells?
- A. They help us hear.
 - B. They look like hairs lying down.
 - C. They can be seen clearly with our eyes.
29. What does the underlined word "tinnitus" mean in paragraph 3?
- A. A musical voice.
 - B. A kind of instrument.
 - C. Ringing in ears.
30. What's the main purpose of the last paragraph?
- A. To give advice.
 - B. To show problems.
 - C. To explain reasons.
31. What's the main idea of the passage?
- A. Before listening to music, choose a good headphone.
 - B. When using a headphone, keep the volume low.
 - C. After using a headphone, check your ears.

第一节 (共 5 小题; 每小题 2 分, 满分 10 分)

阅读下面短文, 根据短文内容回答问题或翻译画线部分。

"Though I was born with half a left arm, I don't think I'm unlucky," said Ms Yang, a 35-year-old woman from a small village in Hunan. She's a successful Xiang embroidery (湘绣) artist. Now she runs a Xiang embroidery store.

She lived a hard life for many years. Luckily, her whole family supported her. After college she applied for(申请) over 200 jobs but was turned down again and again. She tried to start her own business but failed with all her money lost. Then she turned to Xiang embroidery.

Ms Yang's interest in Xiang embroidery began when she was a child. She learned some of the basics from a neighbor. After running the store, she took many training courses, including a three-year course at Tsinghua University. She kept developing her skills, saying that her disability wouldn't stop her. In 2014, her business finally started making money. Then she tried to do something for society.

Xiang embroidery has a history of over 2,000 years. As Xiang embroidery is one of the four best-known styles (风格) of embroidery in China, she hopes to spread its culture and make more people learn about it. By offering free lessons, Ms Yang helps lots of people, including many disabled ones.

Ms Yang's story is encouraging. It shows how important strong wills and interests are. When we face difficulties, we should never give up. Just as a saying goes, "Where there is a will, there is a way."

56. Where is Ms Yang from?

57. How long is the history of Xiang embroidery?

58. How does Ms Yang help people?

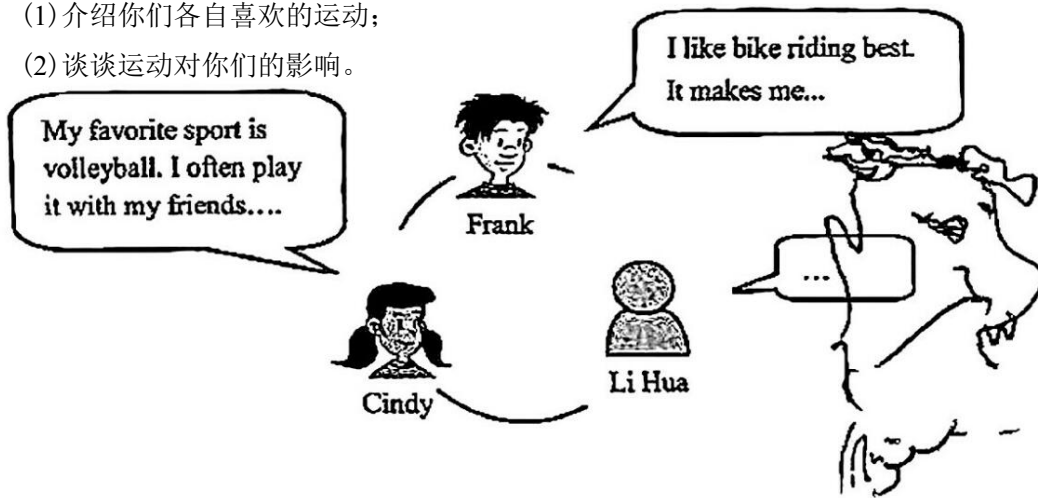

59. Do you want to learn Xiang embroidery this summer holiday? Why or why not?

60. 将短文中画线句子翻译成中文。
