10、Question:Where did the man most probably find the information about the book?

A.In a newspaper.

B.On the Internet.

C.From a friend.

Answer:B

Explanation:The man states that he found the details of the book"on a website."

This clearly indicates that he found the information online,making option B,

"On the Internet,"the accurate answer.

11、Listen to the recording and choose the best answer to the question.

Question:What does the man suggest the woman do?

B.Try a new approach.

C.Ask for help from colleagues.

Answer:B

Explanation:In the recording,the man says,"Maybe you should try a different method.It seems like you're stuck on this one."This suggests that he thinks the woman should try a new approach rather than continuing with the same method that isn't working.

12、Listen to the recording and complete the sentence.

Sentence:The speaker mentioned that the event will be held on

A.March 15th

B.April   20th

C.May   5th

Answer:B

Explanation:During   the   recording,the   speaker   clearly   states,"The   event will   take   place   on   April   20th,so   please   mark   your   calendars."This   directly answers the question and indicates that the correct date is April 20th.

Section A

Passage:

Title:The Digital Transformation of Education

In recent years,the education sector has undergone a remarkable transformation,fueled primarily by digital technologies.This digital revolution has not only changed the way students learn but also how teachers teach,revolutionizing classrooms worldwide.

With the widespread adoption of the internet,online learning platforms have emerged as a vital component of modern education.Platforms like Coursera,edX, and Khan Academy offer a vast array of courses spanning various disciplines, making knowledge accessible to millions of learners globally.These courses, often taught by experts in their fields,cater to students of all ages and skill levels,providing flexible learning options that suit individual schedules and learning preferences.

The rise of mobile devices and applications has further fueled this digital transformation.Students can now access educational content anytime,anywhere, on their smartphones or tablets.From language learning apps to interactive simulations,the possibilities for personalized learning experiences are endless.

Schools and universities are also leveraging technology to enhance teaching methods.Smart boards,interactive whiteboards,and virtual reality(VR)tools are transforming classrooms into dynamic learning environments.Teachers can use these tools to create immersive experiences that bring abstract concepts to life,making learning more engaging and effective.

Moreover,digital technologies are enabling the collection and analysis of vast amounts of data on student performance and learning patterns.This data-driven approach allows educators to tailor their instruction to the unique needs of each student,promoting individualized learning and enhancing overall achievement.

However,the digital transformation of education is not without its challenges.Issues such as digital divide,cyberbullying,and the potential for addiction to screens are among the concerns that educators and policymakers must address.Ensuring equitable access to digital resources and fostering responsible digital citizenship are crucial for realizing the full potential of this transformation.

Questions:

1.What is the main driver of the digital transformation in the education sector?
Answer:The widespread adoption of digital technologies.

2.What are some examples of online learning platforms that have emerged due to this transformation?

Answer:Examples include Coursera,edX,and Khan Academy.

3.How are mobile devices and applications contributing to the digital transformation of education?

Answer:Mobile devices and applications allow students to access educational content anytime,anywhere,and offer personalized learning experiences through language learning apps,interactive simulations,and more.

4.What are some challenges that need to be addressed for the successful implementation of the digital transformation in education?

Answer:Challenges include the digital divide,cyberbullying,and the potential for addiction to screens.Ensuring equitable access to digital resources and fostering responsible digital citizenship are also crucial.

Section III:Reading -Part I

Third Question

Reading Passage:

Title:The Power of Reading

In a world where screens are constantly beckoning us with their glow,the simple act of picking up a book and delving into its pages can seem like an anachronism.Yet,the power of reading remains undiminished,offering a depth of understanding and emotional connection that digital media often struggles to match.

Books have been humanity's companions through centuries of progress, serving as windows to different worlds,mirrors reflecting our own experiences, and doors opening onto new ideas.They have the ability to transport us to far-off lands,introduce us to characters who become like old friends,and challenge our beliefs and perspectives.

Reading is not just about consuming words on a page;it's an exercise in empathy,imagination,and critical thinking.It fosters creativity,expands our vocabulary,and enhances our communication skills.In a rapidly changing world, the ability to learn and adapt is crucial,and reading is a fundamental tool for doing so.

Moreover,research has shown that reading can have a profound impact on mental health.Escaping into a good book can provide a sense of escape from daily stresses,reduce anxiety,and promote relaxation.It can also inspire hope, courage,and resilience in the face of adversity.

As technology continues to evolve,it's important to remember that the value of reading transcends time and format.Whether it's a physical book,an
